

IEEE Nuclear and Plasma Sciences Society

Nomination for the Radiation Instrumentation Early Career Award

DESCRIPTION: This award is given to a young investigator in recognition of significant and innovative technical contributions to the fields of radiation instrumentation and measurement techniques for ionizing radiation. The prize, consisting of $1,500 and an engraved plaque, will be awarded at the IEEE/NPSS Nuclear Science Symposium.

ELIGIBILITY: Individuals whose highest degree has been awarded within 10 years of the date of nomination, and includes current graduate students.

SELECTION CRITERIA: Nominees will be judged according to their contributions to the fields of radiation instrumentation and measurement techniques for ionizing radiation as demonstrated by the technical merit and creativity of their research. Priority will be given to nominees whose research has been published in peer-reviewed journals.

RADIATION INSTRUMENTATION EARLY CAREER AWARD COMMITTEE MEMBERS:

1	Zane Bell	Oak Ridge National Laboratory	USA
2	Gianluigi De Geronimo	Brookhaven National Laboratory	USA
3	Grzegorz Deptuch	Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory	USA
4	Lorenzo Fabris	Oak Ridge National Laboratory	USA
5	Stuart Kleinfelder	University of California, Irvine	USA
6	Chiara Guazzoni	Politecnico di Milano & INFN	Italy
7	Richard Lanza	Massachusetts Institute of Technology	USA

CONFLICT OF INTEREST: We take seriously to manage and solve any Conflict of Interest that should arise; Committee Members cannot nominate anybody to the award. In case Committee Members are asked to write a reference letter for any nominee, The Member will stay as Committee Member but will not provide evaluation for that nominee.

DEADLINE: Nominations must be received by July 15.

INSTRUCTIONS: Nomination forms are available at <http://ewh.ieee.org/soc/nps/RIECAform.htm>
Completed packets should be submitted to:
